Have you heard what is going on with wireless?

Insomnia, irritability, brain fog, cancer risk, heart disease, neurological disorders — are they related to wireless radiation?

YES, say U.S. government-funded research, the World Health Organization, hundreds of scientists worldwide and many who have already been injured.

What can you do?

- Call your City Council, State Representatives, Community Board & Borough President. Ask them to support a moratorium until more information can be had.
- Alert your representatives and Congressman Jerrold Nadler if you see any new construction. Last April the FCC directed that all construction must halt until the poles pass (NEPA) environmental and (NHPA) historical preservation review, and it is important to ensure compliance.
- Sign up with Wired Broadband to get word of online town halls covering a variety of perspectives on the issue.
